In discussions with our Indiana counterparts, they were supplying information to IEMA. This was not making its way to us. In all likelihood, this stemmed from this being evaluated as an Illinois Non-event. I believe that we have it straight with them that we would like to be the ones that make this determination (especially when an incident must be evaluated from a source water perspective).

Blaine,

Paul Rasch (IEMA) called left a message Friday but I left early Friday and missed it. I e-mailed him this morning to see if he still needed something. He called me immediately to apologize for not keeping me in the loop with his e-mail interaction with Indiana. We had a brief beneficial conversation. At this point we have likely and literally beat this horse to death over a big "Non-Event". It was a wakeup call and learning curve to better share info in the future.
